Preacher Says Eligibles Wait
for Their Ideals.

GOOD PROPOSALS ARE REFUSED

Rev. E. H. Swen, in Explaining
"Why So Many Washington Women Are Unmarried," Declares Even Most Ordinary Man Can Get Wife from Great Feminine Majority.

"If I had my way, I'd pin a label, 'To Be Married,' over every marriageable girl's heart," said Rev. E. H. Swen, of the Capital Baptist Church, last night, in explaining "Why so many Washington women are unmarried."

"More Washington women are not married," said Mr. Swen, "for many reasons. First, this city numbers more women than men in its population, as is the case everywhere. I regard this majority of women over men as a punishment for some sin, for if conditions were ideal, every man and every woman in this world would be mated by Divine Power."

Wait for Their Ideals.
"It is not that Washington women are more unpopular or less charming than other women. There are other reasons, to enumerate all of which would keep me talking for the rest of the year. Because a woman is not married, do not think she cannot get a husband. Many women continue to refuse proposals of marriage until their ideals are found."

"In this connection, let me say that too many mothers wield an undue influence over their daughter's marital affairs by holding up the question of whether the groom is wealthy. And many women of marriageable age take that same view. We have women in this city who earn large salaries, but who would be pleased to marry if assured their husbands' salaries were as large as their own."

Wife Could Provide.
"Why dispute this point? Let the woman support the man if she so desires. If she can avoid the so-called burden of married life in this way, let her provide for her husband."
"There are hundreds of marriageable girls in this city. Even the most ordinary man can get a wife."
"If I had my way I'd pin a label over every marriageable girl's heart. The label should read 'To be married.'"

WESTERN CITIES DENY FRAUD.

Telegrams Pour in Protesting on Census Charges.

Telegrams from many of the Western cities where it is alleged gross census frauds have been perpetrated are pouring into Washington, making emphatic denials of the charges and professing their innocence.
They will be given a thorough investigation by President Taft, Secretary Nagel, and Director of the Census DuRand, who are determined that if guilty the parties shall not escape punishment.

The investigations will chiefly rest upon Tacoma, Seattle, and Aberdeen, Wash., and Portland, Oreg., where, it is charged, the enumerations have been largely padded.

It is expected that many arrests and imprisonments will follow the investigations.

URGES CATHOLIC LOYALTY

Prejudice Against Church Deplored
by Rev. P. J. Meagher.

District Knights of Columbus Hear
His Sermon at Their Annual Vesper Service.

"There is prejudice against Catholics and insurmountable barriers against their success in business and in social life," declared Rev. P. J. Meagher, in his sermon at the annual vesper service of the District Knights of Columbus in St. Vincent de Paul's Church yesterday afternoon.
"It is a crying shame," he continued, "that the communicants of this mother church should be received in such a spirit in this country."
"The Catholic Church has survived triumphantly against every attack made against it from the days of the martyrs. We look upon the republic of Venice as belonging to remote antiquity, and yet that same republic, which many centuries ago passed out of existence, was conceived when the Catholic Church was already very old."
"This splendid gathering of the Knights of Columbus shows how vital a place mother church holds in our affections, and I am proud to preach the sermon on this occasion."

P. J. O'Connell, state chaplain of the order, was celebrant of the mass, and music was rendered by the sanctuary choir of St. Paul's Church.

DEATH NOT THE END

Rev. John E. Briggs Preaches at Fifth Baptist.

MEANING OF THE HEREAFTER

"Most People Believe in Immortality," Says Pastor. "But Their Belief Is Vague in Some Cases, Though It Should Be Sincere and Without Question."

In the first of a series of Sunday evening sermons on "The hereafter," Rev. John E. Briggs, pastor of Fifth Baptist Church, discussed the immortality of the soul before a large congregation last night.

"Generally speaking," he declared, "every one believes in a hereafter, although to some the meaning is vague and distant."

Using the familiar quotation, "You can fool part of the people part of the time and all the people part of a time, but you cannot fool all the people all of the time," Rev. Mr. Briggs said that it was fittingly adapted for those who preach against the hereafter and the immortality of the soul.

Lives in the Hereafter.

In direct answer to the question, "Does death end all?" he explained that the body is destructible after death, but the soul departs from the body to live in the hereafter.

After professing his faith in the immortality of the soul and expounding the doctrine from various viewpoints, Rev. Mr. Briggs closed his sermon by calling on all those who seek salvation to stand. A large number responded.
During the last hymn, Rev. Mr. Briggs interrupted at the close of each verse to offer prayers and appeal to the congregation to "get right with God and with man."

FOREIGN COMMERCE HEAVY.

Figures of Year for New York Exceed $1,500,000,000.

For the first time in the history of New York, the value of its foreign commerce exceeded $1,500,000,000 for the year ending June 30 last, amounting to $1,537,577,814. Its increase over the preceding year was $201,423,883, or more than the total of Boston's foreign commerce.

New York's imports last year were $835,990,958, or 60 per cent of the nation's total. The exports were $651,586,336, or 57.3 per cent of that of the nation. The increase alone in New York far exceeds the total imports and exports of all Pacific ports.

The growth of New York City is also shown in its manufactures, one-tenth of that of the entire United States.

DEPENDS ON HURRICANE.

Weather Conditions for Atlantic States Uncertain This Week.

The Weather Bureau issued the following special bulletin last night:
"Abnormally low pressure still persists over Alaska, and in consequence generally fair weather promises to continue during the greater portion of the coming week over the interior of the country as far west as the Rocky Mountains."

"In the Atlantic States conditions are dependent upon the at present very uncertain movement of the West Indian hurricane, but in any event rains that may occur will be limited to a day or two during the first half of the week. In the South Atlantic States general rains are indicated for Monday and possibly Tuesday with the recurring of the West Indian storm to the northeastward."

"As a whole, temperatures will be above the average for the season, except in the South, where they will be about normal, or slightly lower for a few days."

He also impressed upon the necessity of being good young men and women, and to cultivate habits of industry and integrity.

The meeting was honored by the presence of Hon. H. Sasseff, Ottoman delegate to the International Prison Congress. Other remarks were made by Probation Officers John R. Dillon and Mrs. Gertrude Darwin.
